But Continue To Cry For More Troops.

Mitchell Offers to Submit the Ques- tion to Tribunal Chosen by President Roosevelt.

WILL CONGRESS BE CALLED IN EXTRA SESSION

London Times Correspondent Cables Prediction of Violence More Serious Than Bread Riots of Italy--Statements Made by Both Sides at Conference.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Today's conference between President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Root, Attorney General Knox and Commissioner of Labor Wright ended this noon. On leaving the White House, Secretary Root made a statement to the newspaper men of which the following is a summary:

The President will not call an extra session of congress to consider the coal strike. He does not intend to call Governor Stone of Pennsylvania here to consult with him, nor does he propose to interfere with the governor, nor offer him any suggestions as to his duty in the premises. The President will not ask J. P. Morgan to confer with him on the strike situation. He considers that the state of Pennsylvania is the proper and only authority to handle the strike so long as the miners and operators refuse to settle.

London, Oct. 4.—The New York correspondent of the London Times in discussing the anthracite coal strike, cables his paper as follows from New York:

"One of best known residents of this city told me that if the strike was not ended immediately there would be riots here when cold weather begins and that they would be one hundred times more serious than the bread riots in Italy."

Washington, Oct. 4.—At the temporary White House last night the following official statement was given out concerning Friday's coal conference:

The conference opened at 11 o'clock. The operators and representatives of the miners were presented to the President. Those in attendance were: George F. Baer, president of the Reading Railway system.

W. H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company.

E. E. Thomas, chairman of board, Erie Railroad company.

Thomas P. Fowler, president New York, Ontario and Western Railway company.

David Wilcox, vice president and general counsel, Delaware and Hudson company.

John Markle, president independent operators.

John Mitchell, president United Mine Workers of America.

Thomas D. Nicholls, Thomas Duff, John Fahy, district presidents United Mine Workers of America.

Attorney General Knox, Secretary Cortelyou, Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor.

The President's statement followed. "I wish to call your attention to the fact that there are three parties affected by the situation in the anthracite trade: The operators, the miners and the general public. I speak for neither the operators nor the miners, but for the general public. The question at issue which led to the situation affect immediately the parties concerned—the operators and the miners, but the situation itself virtually affects the public. As long as there seemed to be a reasonable hope that these matters could be adjusted between the parties it did not seem proper to me to intervene in any way. I disclaim any right or duty to intervene in this way upon legal grounds or upon any official relation that I bear to the situation, but the urgency and the terrible nature of the catastrophe impending over a large portion of our people in the shape of a winter fuel famine impel me after much anxious thought to believe that my duties require me to use whatever influence I personally can bring to end a situation which has become literally intolerable. I wish to emphasize the character of the situation and to say that its gravity is such that I am constrained urgently to insist that each one of you realize the heavy burden of responsibility upon him. We are upon the threshold of winter with an already existing coal famine the future terrors of which we can hardly appreciate. The evil possibilities are so far reaching, so appalling, that it seems to me that you are not only justified in sinking but required to sink for the time being any tenacity as to your respective claims in the matter at issue between you. In my judgment the situation imperatively requires that you meet upon the common plane of the necessities of the public. With all the earnestness there is in me I ask that there be an immediate resumption of operations in the coal mines in some such way as will without a day's unnecessary delay meet the crying needs of the people. I do not invite a discussion of your respective claims and positions. I appeal to your patriotism, to the spirit that sinks personal consideration and makes indi-

AN UPRISING IN COAL FIELDS IS FEARED-- UNIONISM ROCK ON WHICH COAL INTERESTS SPLIT--PRESIDENT'S NEXT MOVE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The momentous conference between the coalroad presidents and representatives of the striking anthracite coal miners at the White House failed to bring the desired result, hence the strike situation is growing more acute. Bitter words were used in President Roosevelt's presence and the operators displayed resentment over the interference of the President in calling the conference.

Mitchell, leader of the striking miners, is willing to refer all matters at issue to arbitrators named by the President, but the operators refuse to treat with Mitchell and decline to arbitrate. The operators insist that they are ready to supply the crying need of coal if afforded protection in the coal fields, which means the impoitation of more troops—federal troops.

Unionism was the rock upon which the coal interests split. AN UPRISING IS FEARED BY PEOPLE SUFFERING FROM COLD AND SECRET MEETINGS HELD IN NEW YORK ARE BELIEVED TO PRESAGE A REIGN OF TERROR IF IMMEDIATE RELIEF IS NOT GIVEN.

The operators say that Mitchell must be destroyed even if all the people of the United States go cold and hungry.

The situation is even worse now than it was before the conference was held, for the reason that the operators have practically made a public oath that they, acting as a combination, will not deal with the miners also acting as a combination. The miners must deal with the coal trust as individuals, or not at all.

Operator Markle asks for more troops in the coal field. President Roosevelt may call an extra session of congress shortly to deal with this momentous question—the war between capital and labor—the greatest issue since that of '61.

It is believed that the next step to be taken by President Roosevelt in the strike situation will be to request Governor Stone of Pennsylvania to call the legislature to take action looking to a re-opening of the mines. There is also renewed talk of the possibility of an extra session of Congress for the purpose of passing a compulsory arbitration law in order for the state to seize and operate the mines under the right of eminent domain. There would be required an immense appropriation for no lands may be seized under this right "without due and just compensation." President Roosevelt is keenly disappointed over the failure of yesterday's conference.

Mr. Roosevelt is more than disappointed, however. He feels that he was practically insulted by the operators when they attempted to turn the tables on him by telling him that he had not done his duty in failing to send United States troops to Pennsylvania to protect the non-union workmen employed by them. The whole attitude of the operators was one of resentment that the President had intervened in the matter.

THE ISSUES CONDENSED.

JOHN MITCHELL—We propose that the issues culminating in the strike shall be referred to the President and a tribunal of his selection and agree to accept his award upon all or any of the questions involved. GEORGE F. BAER—The duty of the hour is not to waste time negotiating with the fomenters of this anarchy, but to do as was done in the War of the Rebellion, restore the majesty of the law. The government is only a contemptible failure if it compromises with violators of law.

DAVID WILCOX—Claimed that the United Mine Workers of America constitute the most extensive combination and monopoly this country has ever known. He cites instances and precedents to show that it is the duty of the National Government to interfere.

JOHN MARKLE—We are asked to deal with outlaws. * * * The operators represent the miners more fully than John Mitchell does. The President could remedy the situation at once if he would.

virtual sacrifices for the general good."

Upon the completion of the President's remarks Mr. Mitchell made a statement as follows:

MITCHELL'S RESPONSE.
Mr. President, I am much impressed with what you say. I am much impressed with the gravity of the situation. We feel that we are not responsible for this terrible state of affairs. We are willing to meet the gentlemen representing the coal companies to try to adjust our differences among ourselves. If we cannot adjust them that way, Mr. President, we are willing that you shall name a tribunal who shall determine the issues that have resulted in the strike and if the gentlemen representing the operators will accept the award or decision of such a tribunal the miners will willingly accept it, even if it is against their claims."

THE PRESIDENT.
"Before considering what ought to be done, I think it only just to both of you—both sides—and desirable from my standpoint, that you should have time to consider what I stated as to the reasons for my getting you together and I shall trespass so far upon your good nature as to ask that the interview cease now and that you come back at 3 o'clock. I should like you to think over what I have stated, claims and positions." But we assume that a statement of what is going on in the coal regions will not be irrelevant. We represent the owners of coal mines in Pennsylvania. There are 10,000 to 15,000 men at work mining and preparing coal. They are abused, assaulted and maltreated by the United Mine Workers. They can only work under the protection of armed guards. Thousands of other workmen are deterred from work by the violence and crimes inaugurated by the union mine workers, over whom John Mitchell whom you invited to meet you, is chief.

I need not picture the daily crimes committed by the members of this organization. The "domestic tranquility" which every citizen declares is the chief object of government does not exist in the coal regions. There is a terrible reign of lawlessness and crime there. Only the lives and property of the members of the secret oath bound order which declared that the locals should have full power to suspend operations at collieries until the non-union men joined their order, are safe. Every effort is made to prevent the mining of coal and when mined Mitchell's men dynamite bridges and mob trainmen and by all manner of violence try to prevent its shipment to relieve the public.

The constitution of Pennsylvania guarantees protection to life and property. In express terms it declares the right of acquiring, possessing and defending property to be inalienable. When riot and anarchy, too great to be appeased by the civil powers occur, the governor of Pennsylvania is bound to call out the state troops to suppress it. He must fearlessly use the whole power of the state to protect life and property and to establish peace—not an armed truce, but the peace of the law which protects every man at work and going to and from work. It has sent troops to the coal regions. Gradually the power of the law is asserting itself. Unless encouraged by false hopes order will soon be restored and then we can mine coal to meet the public wants. If the power of Pennsylvania is insufficient to re-establish the reign of law, the constitution of the United States requires the President, when requested by the legislature and governor, "to suppress domestic violence." You see there is a lawful way to secure coal for the public.

The duty of the hour is not to waste time negotiating with the fomenters of this anarchy and insolent defiance of the law, but to do as was done in the war of the rebellion, restore the majesty of the law, the only guardian of a free people, and to re-establish order and peace at any cost. The government is a contemptible failure if it can only protect the lives and property, and secure the comfort of the people by compromising with the violators of law and the instigators of violence and crime.

Just now it is more important to teach ignorant men, dwelling among us, misled and used as tools by citizens of other states that at whatever cost and inconvenience to the public Pennsylvania will use the whole power of government to protect not only the man who wants to work, but his wife and children while he is at work, and to punish every man who by instigation or by overt acts attempts to deprive any man of his liberty to work.

Under these conditions, we decline to accept Mr. Mitchell's considerations to let our men work on terms he names. He has no right to come from Illinois to dictate terms on the acceptance of which anarchy and crime shall cease in Pennsylvania. He must stop his people from killing, maiming and abusing Pennsylvania citizens and from destroying property. He must stop it because it is unlawful and not because of any bargain with us.

We will add to our offer "to continue the wage existing at the time of strike and to take up at each colliery and adjust any grievance" this further condition—if the employers and employees at any particular colliery cannot reach a satisfactory adjustment of any alleged grievances, it shall be referred to the judges of the court of common pleas of the district in which the colliery is situated for final determination.

(Signed) GEORGE F. BAER, President Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, and Temple Iron company.

WEDDING

Of Miss Cora Simpson and William L.
Smith at the Baptist Parsonage.

Miss Cora Maud Simpson and Mr. William L. Smith, two well known and highly respected young people of this city, were married on Tuesday evening. The ceremony took place at the parsonage of the Fifth street Baptist church, and was performed by Rev. B. F. Patt. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Nancy Simpson, 247 West Main St., where they partook of supper, after which they left on the B. & O. train for a trip east.

Upon their return they will go to homekeeping in their new home, 394 West Church street.

The bride is one of Newark's highly esteemed young women. She has been stenographer at the Everett factory.

The groom is a son of Mr. James B. Smith the contractor of Pearl street, and is foreman in the Simpson Heater works. Both he and his bride have the best wishes of all their friends.

DOWN IN A SALT MINE.

An Occasion When One's Dignity Must Be Set Aside.

It is only the elect among travelers who find their way to Berchtesgaden, in Bavaria, not very far from Salzburg, writes a correspondent of the London Tatler. If you drive in a carriage from thence by road, you are stopped midway at a customs house and find yourself leaving Austrian territory for Bavaria. Berchtesgaden is a beautiful situation, and it has two noteworthy attractions, one of them the Konigssee, thought by many to be the most beautiful lake in the world, and the other the salt mines. A visit to the salt mines gives one an exciting hour.

Many tourists take tickets at the top, but many of the fair sex are deterred from using them when they see the costume that is rendered essential to the visit. In other words, they have to abandon skirts and adopt a special "rig out." One may frequently observe that ladies, torn between what they consider modesty and curiosity, go two or three times to the mines before they screw up their courage sufficiently to don the attire and pay the visit.

The necessity for women to abandon the usual garment arises from the fact that a portion of the mine can only be visited through the medium of a kind of slide. This slide is, however, the best thing in the whole visit. It is a great deal better than tobogganing, and, as one is in the dark and with only a candle fastened to one's dress, it is not a little exciting.

The strangest incident in the trip is that of the illumination of what is called "the salt lake." You are rowed across this lake in almost absolute darkness, the illumination being provided by a number of miners' lamps round the lake, and the journey has a very considerable weirdness. The next best experience in the trip is the final ride into daylight on the trucks. This is a journey through absolute darkness for a very considerable way until finally one sees a little gleam of light in the distance. Altogether, as I have said, between the toboggan slide, the car ride and the boat journey across the salt lake the visitor to the Berchtesgaden salt mine has plenty for his money. But, curiously enough, he sees very little salt. At any rate, the prepared salt that one uses on one's breakfast table is not at all in evidence.

The Girl in Athletics.

The girl who goes into athletics with the haziest idea as to figures in their relation to anything is brought up with a round turn if she indulges in her propensity to get statements mixed. When an inch or two or even a fraction of an inch makes or breaks a record in the breadth or height of a jump, feet and inches take on an entirely fresh and large importance. She had not thought before that a little variation made such difference, but when she finds that the difference has been training she looks at a measuring tape with a new respect.

She learns to know in a practical way what inaccuracy may mean in the way of failure. Carelessness about the point where she begins upon the run that leads to the jump may involve a wrong "take off," the delay of a second in starting from the mark in a race means falling behind the other runners. The schoolgirl who gains even so much regard for accuracy as this has scored a tremendous advantage over women in general.—Outing.

Children With Weak Stomachs.

When a baby has by vomiting and other signs given proof its stomach is functionally out of order, the very simplest remedial measure is mild starvation. By this the irritated mucous membrane has rest, and the engorged system is given some opportunity of freeing itself from a burden. The child so treated is being dealt with in a manner to promote its vitality and hence to fit it the more thoroughly for resisting the bacterial hosts by which its earthly existence is menaced. The opposite procedure may with perseverance result in fattening, but experience, speaking with merciless certainty, declares that tone of tissue and not a superabundance of fat is the strongest natural defensive weapon for the young human warrior.

The following invitation are issued: Miss Veach, Miss Ester Veach at home Wednesday, October eighth, three to five.

The Review club will begin its literary work on Saturday, October 11th the first meeting to be held with the president, Mrs. A. H. Pierson.

The Travelers' Club of Granville will resume its work on October 6 at 2 o'clock, meeting in the infant class room of the Baptist church. They have planned a two years' trip through Italy and its environs.

The Tuesday afternoon euchar club was entertained this week by Mrs. Albert Rosebraugh, at her beautiful suburban residence on Beuna Vista street. Miss Goldsborough won the prize for the most progressions, Mrs. Will Blood was awarded the prize for lone hands, and the guest prize was won by Mrs. Updegraff.

With Mrs. John E. Dean the Monday Talks holds its first meeting on Monday, Oct. 6, which is the twentieth anniversary of the club, and is called Founder's Day. On Monday evening, Oct. 13, the club has engaged Prof. Colivell of Denison to deliver a lecture on Ancient Art to be illustrated with stereoscopic views. The lecture will be given in the First Presbyterian church, and the various clubs in the city are invited to attend with the privilege of each one bringing a friend. This lecture is a courtesy which the Monday Talks extends to her sister clubs.

On Monday evening the penny-a-day society or Trinity church gave a literary social at the parish house. The guessing contest consisted of guessing the titles of books from pictures which were pinned to a screen. There were nearly forty pictures. Every one present was busy with pencil and paper, and about half the evening was spent with the pictures. Miss Lulu Starr won the first prize, a beautiful book, and Mr. Haight was given the consolation prize. Those present were highly entertained by Miss Bertha Penny, and Mr. Yearly, the new professor of music in the public schools both of whom sang solos. Miss Bertha Penny and Miss Miss Bessie Reed served punch.

The members and friends of the Fourth street church of Christ to the number of several hundred, met at the parsonage on Granville street last Saturday night, to welcome the pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. H. Newton Miller, on their return from their bridal trip. Many beautiful and valuable presents, including a beautiful leather rocker were presented to them on behalf of the church by Mr. O. C. Larson. Addresses appropriate to the occasion were also made by Rev. Lester S. Boyce of this city and Rev. Mr. Ellinger and Mrs. Rose Wilson of Hebron. Light refreshments were served at the close of the reception.

Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Dr. Hatch entertained on Wednesday afternoon with a progressive euchar party at the home of Mrs. Hatch. The prize for the most progressions was won by Mrs. Geo. Blood, and Mrs. Eliza Symons carried off the prize for lone hands. The guests were Mrs. Dr. Charles Stimson, Mrs. John Swisher, Mrs. Dr. Baldwin, Mrs. Eliza Symons, Mrs. Augusta Chambers, Mrs. Kate Roe, Mrs. Chas. Metz, Mrs. Chas. Hempstead, Mrs. Geo. Coterie Club.

The Coterie club held its initial meeting for the season at the home of Mrs. Stella Agnew on Elm street, and a fair proportion of its members were present. Quotations were from Milton and the following program was rendered:

Discovery of America—Mrs. Hattie Alsop.

Other Explorations—Mrs. Nettie Hirst.

Reading—Mrs. Mae Long.

Current Events—Mrs. Gertrude Alsop.

Critic—Mrs. Addie Conrad.

The next meeting of the club will be held October 17th, with Mrs. Hattie Alsop.

Master George vanFossen was the delightful little host to a few of his friends on Saturday afternoon in honor of his birthday. Games were played and refreshments served.

On Monday evening a very unique but most delightful entertainment was given by Mrs. Marvinton Moore, in honor of Mr. Bernard Wingenter. The occasion was a sock hower, and every sort of sock known at the present time was offered on the crumbling altar of bachelorhood. There was no special entertainment, the time being spent in enjoyment of an excellent supper, good cigars, and story telling. The decorations consisted of cannaes, which with their handsome leaves and brilliant flowers were very appropriate for the occasion. The guests present were, Dr. W. C. Rank, Mr. Frank A. Bolton, Mr. Phil. B. Smythe, Dr. DeCrow, Prof. C. M. Humes, Mr. E. S. Browne, Mr. Bernard Wingenter, Mr. Thos. J. Daly, Mr. Ned King, Mr. W. Gardner, Mr. Ralph Davis, Mr. Will Foss, Mr. W. Shroeder, Mr. Robt. Smith, and Mr. Marvinton Moore.

The congregation of the First M. E. church will hold a farewell reception for Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Johnson on Tuesday evening, October 7, in the parlors of the church. All are invited.

The Research club met this afternoon with Miss Van Horn, and the following program was carried out: Quotations—The Fatherland. Paper—A Glance at Ancient and Medieval Germany—Miss Kilpatrick. A Ramble through the Black Forests—Miss Rawlings. A Reminiscence—Miss Frye. "Die Niebelungen Lied"—Mrs. Singer.

Current Events—Miss Haughey. The guests were—Mrs. Gay, Mrs. Mannion, Mrs. McMullen, Misses Kirby, Galloway and McNabon.

Mrs. George Stair gave a linen shower on Wednesday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Lizzie Pfeiffer. The evening was spent socially, music being the principal amusement. The presents received by Miss Pfeiffer were many and useful.

Miss Ethel Frye entertained on Thursday evening with a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Lizzie Pfeiffer. The invited guests arrived early with their bundles of all shapes and sizes and much merriment was caused as Miss Pfeiffer unwrapped the bundles and exhibited the contents to the anxious guests.

FIREMEN

ELECT. THEIR OFFICERS AND PREPARE TO GO

Meeting in Newark Has Been a Great Success—Local Railway News Of the Day.

At the session of the Joint Board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Fireman of the B. & O. system, now being held in this city, the greater part of Friday's session was taken up in hearing the reports of the various officers of the Board, and transacting routine business. The report of the treasurer of the board showed that $4,000 had been paid into the treasury of the Joint Board during the year by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen on the B. & O. system. The greater part of the money has been expended for the good of the order, leaving a balance on hand of over $1,000.

The election of officers of the board for the ensuing year occurred on Friday evening and resulted as follows: Chairman, T. F. Roberts, Newark; Vice Chairman, C. C. Shearer, Pittsburg; Secretary, A. L. Sheaks, Chicago; Treasurer, A. B. Miller, Cumberland, Md.

All the members of the Joint Board were furnished with complimentary tickets for the entertainment given by the Keystone Dramatic company at the Auditorium by the Reception Committee of Taylor Lodge, and they attended in a body.

Today's session was taken up in allowing bills, and finishing up the business of the board.

Since the reorganization of the board one year ago the membership on the system has increased 200, and with the recommendations of the Chairman and the Committee on Welfare they expect within the next twelve months to have one of the best organized systems in the country.

The Joint Board will adjourn this evening to meet again in Baltimore on Nov. 1, 1903.

The members of the board have expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the entertainment they have received at the hands of the local members of the board during their stay in Newark. First Vice and Master C. A. Wilson, especially, has expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the treatment, both of the Firemen and the citizens, and has said that he expects to return shortly and give an entertainment with stereopticon lanterns, under the auspices of Taylor lodge. Mr. Wilson will leave for his home in Philadelphia, N. J. this evening, and the other members of the board will also leave for their respective homes.

Chairman Roberts of this city has filed the office so satisfactory that he was honored with re-election.

SOME WRITERS.

Bret Harte was a good deal of a recluse, in that respect resembling Hawthorne more than any other man of letters.

Baxter, it is said, kept the manuscript of the "Saint's Everlasting Rest" in his hands for thirteen years, revising and condensing.

Cooper is said to have written "The Spy" in less than six months. Most of his stories were founded on legends well known in his neighborhood.

Longfellow turned out about one volume of poems a year for many years. Nearly four years were required for his translation of "Dante."

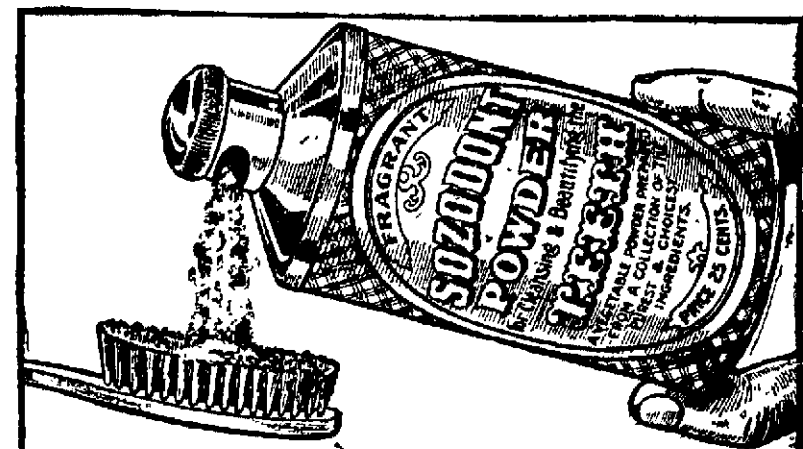

The first volume of poems by Alfred Tennyson came out when he was twenty-four. He was forty-one when "In Memoriam" came from the press.

Thomas Moore often wrote a short poem almost impromptu. He consumed over two years in reading and preparing material for "Lalla Rookh" and two years more in writing that inimitable poem.

In a Carefully Prepared Article recommends Dr. D. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

In a recent issue of the New York Magazine of Sanitation and Hygiene, the recognized authority on all matters pertaining to health, James H. Montgomery, M. D., says editorially:

"After a careful investigation of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, a specific for kidney, liver and bladder troubles, rheumatism, dyspepsia and constipation with its attendant ills, we are free to confess that a more meritorious medicine has never come under the examination of the chemical and medical experts of the New York Magazine of Sanitation and Hygiene. In fact, after the most searching tests and rigid inquiry into the record of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, it becomes a duty to recommend its use in unequivocal term to every reader of this journal whose complaint comes within the list of ailments which this remedy is advertised to cure. We have obtained such overwhelming proof of the efficacy of this specific—have so satisfactorily demonstrated its curative powers through personal experiments—that a case for the interests of our readers leads us to call attention to its great value."

AN OLD FAVORITE

"A SONG THAT OLD WAS SUNG"
The Old Sexton
By Park Benjamin

PARK BENJAMIN, journalist and lecturer, was born at Demerara, British Guiana, in 1850 of American parents. He died in New York in 1914. Park Benjamin was a lawyer by education, but his life was spent as an editor and lecturer. His sonnets are considered by many the best of his poems. For many years Mr. Benjamin was prominent in the social life of New York.

NIGH to a grave that was newly made,
Learned a sexton old on his earth-worn spade;
His work was done, and he paused to wait
The funeral train at the open gate.

A relic of bygone days was he,
And his locks were white as the foamy sea;
And these words came from his lips so thin:
"I gather them in; I gather them in."

"I gather them in! for man and boy,
Year after year of grief and joy,
I've builded the houses that lie around,
In every nook of this burial ground;
Mother and daughter, father and son,
Come to my solitude, one by one;
But come they strangers or come they kin—
I gather them in; I gather them in."

"Many are with me, but still I'm alone,
I'm king of the dead—and I make my throne
On a monument slab of marble cold;
And my scepter of rule is the spade I hold;
Come they from cottage or come they from hall,
Mankind are my subjects, all, all, all!
Let them loiter in pleasure or toilsome spin—
I gather them in; I gather them in."

"I gather them in, and their final rest
Is here, down here, in the earth's dark breast!"
And the sexton ceased, for the funeral train
Went mutely o'er that solemn plain!
And I said to my heart, when time is told,
A mightier voice than that sexton's old
Will sound o'er the last trump's dreadful din—
"I gather them in; I gather them in."

In the Field of Sport.

An old fashioned Licking county fair crowd was on the grounds Friday, and of course the great majority wended their way to quarter stretch or grand stand to get positions of vantage from which to view the races, which were called at 1 o'clock. Expectation was high, owing to the excellent character of Thursday's contests, and these expectations were fully realized.

The judges for Friday were, George T. White of Franklin, O., Bart Crichton of Mt. Vernon; Alex. Stillman of Fredericktown.

Seymour Smith of Pataskala, and Albert Green of Johnstown were in the timer's stand.

The feature of the afternoon was the 2:23 pacing which had five starters, including John Swisher's speedy mare, Nelly J, who took the first two heats, after which it appeared she tired, and Frank Lock's sorrel gelding, Pat L, driven by his owner, who had many backers, took the next two heats, both in grueling finishes.

The fifth, which proved to be the deciding heat was called after the first heat of the 2:27 trot. The horses went away to a good start. Pat L had the pole and went out from the word to set a hot pace, but could not shake off Nelly J, who trailed his sulky into the stretch. Here she tired badly and barely stood off Jim F's well-timed rush through the stretch, getting the place by a scant half length. Pat L won first money; Nelly J, second; May Patch third and Jim F, fourth.

The winner is a sorrel gelding by Patentee, owned by Frank Lock of Vanatta.

Three horses started in the 2:11 pace which was won easily in straight

James J. Jeffries, the champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, recently returned to San Francisco from a buiding trip in the mountains. He killed a few deer and some small game. The big fellow is much tanned and looks to be in excellent health. In telling of his trip the champion said:

to attend to some business. I think I have had enough hunting for awhile, and now I am anxious to catch some of those big fish down at Catalina. I am going down there and fish until I have my fill of this sport.

"When am I going to fight again? Really I have not given the ring a thought since I beat Fitzsimmons. That ridiculous cry of fake so disgusted me that when I went away I felt that I never wanted to meet another man. If there had been a particle of truth in the story, it would have been different, but it was an honest fight."

Jeffries remarked that when he got ready to fight again he was not particular who his opponent was. He said he had promised to give Jim Corbett the chance, and if the latter wanted to scrap he probably would be the man.

International Cricket.

The Associated Cricket Clubs of Philadelphia recently held a special meeting for the purpose of considering a communication from England regarding the proposed tour of a Philadelphia team next spring. It was resolved to empower F. H. Bohlen, who is at present in London, to unite with C. W. Alcock, secretary of the Surrey County Cricket club, and complete all arrangements for the tour, including the arrangement of a schedule which is to begin about the middle of June and close with the last week in August.

Mr. Bohlen was instructed to arrange matches in Dublin and Edinburgh versus Ireland and Scotland, respectively, for a starter, then schedule games with the universities and follow with a match with each of the leading counties. Mr. Bohlen was also notified to play games only three days every two weeks in order that the touring eleven may have an occasional opportunity to recuperate.

No official action was taken regarding the selection of the team, although one of the committeemen stated that the matter has been discussed unofficially and that the fourteen players would in all probability be selected from the following seventeen names: J. A. Lester, P. H. Scattergood, F. C. Sharpless, H. A. Hains, J. D. King, A. M. Wood, C. Coates, E. M. Cregar, G. S. Patterson, R. D. Brown, F. H. Bohlen, P. H. Clark, F. H. Bates, N. Z. Graves, J. E. C. Morton, C. C. Morris and F. S. White.

In the year ending April 1, 1900, Berlin imported from Italy 50 carloads of cherries, 357 of table grapes, 256 of summer fruits, etc. In the following 12 months the business doubled.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Newark Household will Find Them So.

To have the aches and pains of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how the great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Newark readers.

Mr. T. Henderson, No. 189 Baltimore street, says: "I can only say that after giving Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, they showed themselves to be all that was claimed for them. I had a good deal of pain over my kidneys. If I contracted a cold, no matter how slight, it always affected them first, and as a result my back grew worse being frequently so painful that it was more than I could do sometimes to straighten up. The urine was of bad color and odor, evidence that the kidneys were not altogether right. After I obtained Doan's Kidney Pills at Crayton's drug store all this trouble was corrected. The kidneys passed away the impurities and my back was strong and free from pain."

NEVER CATCH UP

The business men who fail to appreciate advertising are likely to find themselves so far behind the times that they will never catch up.

It is always better to advertise a little too much than not quite enough.

It is better to use a little more time than is necessary in the consideration of advertising and the preparation of advertisements than it is to be ever so little careless about it.—Saginaw (Mich.) Evening News.

We advocate careful preparation of copy and frequent changes, the oftener the better.

LIEUT. PEARY'S STORY.

Some of His Experiences In the Far North.

ARCTIC CLIMATE IS NOT SO BAD.

If One Knows What to Wear and How to Live, He Says, Polar Region Is Quite Endurable—One of the Best Places For People Suffering From Pulmonary Diseases.

Lieutenant Robert E. Peary, the arctic explorer, has arrived at New York, says the Times. With him are Mrs. Peary and his nine-year-old daughter Marie, both of whom went to the arctic regions last summer on board the Windward, the ship that brought the explorer back to civilization after a sojourn of more than four years in the frozen north.

Lieutenant Peary is in excellent health and, according to his friends, looks hardly a day older than when he sailed away in search of the north pole. When seen at the St. Denis, he said he was very willing to answer most any question that might be asked him, but added that he thought that nearly everything that he knew about the arctic region and everything else, for that matter, had been "pumped out of him" since his arrival at Sydney, Cape Breton, on the 18th inst.

The first question asked Lieutenant Peary was if he thought it possible for any man to reach the pole.

"I certainly do think it possible," answered the explorer, "and that man whose starting point is latitude 83 and whose equipment is the best to be had and who can strike favorable conditions for the northward dash is the man who will find the pole. Of course he will have to keep at it and maybe will have to make several attempts before he succeeds, but it is the 'try, try again' principle that's going to find the pole. If I could only transfer my experience to him, the problem would be much simplified."

Lieutenant Peary was asked if life in the arctic was as unpleasant as it is sometimes painted.

"If you know what clothes to wear and how to wear them, as well as how to travel up there, taken all in all, the arctic is not such an unpleasant place after all," he replied. "Of course there are unpleasant things connected with life in the arctic, but if one is enthusiastic his interest in his work tides him over all such unpleasantness. However, if a man were compelled to live in the arctic against his will I imagine it would be about the most disagreeable place under the sun."

The explorer said he thought the arctic one of the best places on earth for persons afflicted with pulmonary diseases. In proof of the health giving conditions there he said that nearly everybody who went up there came back weighing more and in a much better state of health generally. Lieutenant Peary said that he did not bring any Eskimos south with him this time for the reason that those he brought several years ago had experienced such a hard time, many of them succumbing to pulmonary diseases.

"How about those arctic animals which you sent to New York and which arrived here last Sunday—do you think they will be able to live in this climate?"

"It's quite a change from 78 degrees north to this climate," replied Lieutenant Peary, "but we got them here all right, and with proper attention I think the animals should live."

Regarding the big Eskimo dog that was the king of the pack that pulled the sledges that carried him to latitude 84.17, the farthest point north he reached and which is among the animals now in the Bronx park, Lieutenant Peary said the dog's name was not Bridgeman, as has been reported. His real name, he said, was Thar Lak Pok Soah, which is the Eskimo for "the big gray fellow."

Of his work in the arctic Lieutenant Peary said that he had charted much of the northern end and east coast of Greenland and also filled in some gaps. He had obtained much valuable scientific information, he said, which was principally geographical, but also meteorological and zoological.

"Will you make another attempt to discover the pole?" Peary was asked.

"No; I am through now, and I am going back to work in the navy. I do not know as yet where I will be stationed. I will go to Washington in a few days and report for duty. No; my arctic work was entirely independent of the government, and I will not report the results of that experience to the navy department."

"Suppose somebody does get to the pole—what do you think they will find?"

"Ice—nothing but ice," Lieutenant Peary answered.

Aerial navigation, Lieutenant Peary said, is as yet in too primitive a state to be of any use in arctic exploration.

His own failure to reach the pole, he said, was due to lack of funds.

Many Dig For Miser's Board.
William J. Loud, a miser who lived with his sister near Petroleum, Ind., is dead. A few days ago he went to an eighty-acre tract of woods near his home and buried $25,000 in bonds and currency, says a dispatch from LaGrange, Ind., to the Chicago Record-Herald. Loud and two sisters made an agreement that those who died were to will their money to the survivors. One sister died, and Loud became convinced that the surviving sister and a hired man were going to steal his money. The entire community is now engaged in digging over the land. While on his deathbed he laughed and said the money under the tree would not do any one any good.

Scare at Zanesville Among Delegates to the Christian Endeavor Convention Held There.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 4.—More than 3,000 delegates and visitors are attending the State Christian Endeavor convention, and nine out of ten of them wish they had not come. Isaac Venrick was taken from a B. & O. train sick. There were 300 Endeavors abroad the same train and the depot platform was packed with those who had previously arrived. Venrick was carried through crowd to an ambulance and taken to his home.

A consultation of physicians has pronounced his case as one of well-developed smallpox. He and five others are quarantined, but the scare is general. The sessions of the convention are attracting large crowds. Akron and Elyria are fighting hard for next year's convention. In future the state conventions, it was determined Friday will be held in mid-summer. Dr. Clark, president of the World's Union Christian Endeavor spoke several times during the day in response to spontaneous demands from the delegates.

Zanesville, Oct. 4.—Elyria gets the state Christian Endeavor meeting in 1903. Akron was a close second.

Dr. Ort of Springfield Will Speak at Taylor Hall Sunday—Concert This Evening.

The men of Newark should turn out in large numbers to hear Dr. S. A. Ort of Springfield, at the first big meeting for men at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon. Dr. Ort is an able orator and speaks on the interesting subject, "What we want to know and when to learn it."

The meeting begins at 7.30 with a musical program. Mr. Walter Bentley Ball will sing a solo, and he and Mrs. C. W. Miller a duet. Immediately after the mens meeting two Bible classes will be organized. One in "The Life and Letters of Paul," led by Rev. L. S. Boyce, and the other in "Main Lines in the Bible," led by Secretary Ebersole.

For the convenience of those who remain to the Bible class a light lunch will be served immediately after the classes at 5:30 in time for those who wish to attend Young People's meeting at their churches.

Remember tonight's concert at Taylor Hall.

RECEPTION

Given by Faculty and Students of Shepardson College to Students of Denison.

Granville, O., Oct. 4.—One of the most delightful and enjoyable social functions held in Granville for some time was the reception given by the faculty and students of Shepardson College on Friday evening in King Hall to the students of Denison University. The rooms has been beautifully decorated for the occasion, and it seemed as though every student of old Denison was present. The reception was given for the purpose of making the young ladies and gentlemen of the college better acquainted with each other, and that the object was accomplished was evidenced from the manner in which the young people enjoyed themselves.

Margaret James, the nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen James died at the home of the parents on Maple street on Friday morning at 9 time with diabetes. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

Too Cautious.
"I have the greatest confidence in Dr. Slocum as a physician," said one of the doctor's patients. "He never gives an opinion till he has waited and weighed a case and looked at it from every side."

I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to find a cure. This is a case of twenty years' standing. I got so far gone that I could not work more than six or eight hours per day, and would become perfectly exhausted. I was recommended by Messrs. I have gained strength, health, vigor, and am able to carry on my daily labor with the greatest ease. THE MINERS' STATEMENT.

The following is the statement made to the President by the representatives of the miners' union:

Mr. President:

At the conference Friday morning, we, the accredited representatives of the anthracite coal mine workers were much impressed and the dangers to the welfare of our country from a prolongation of the coal strike, that you clearly pointed out. Conscious of the responsibility resting upon us, conscious of our duty to society, conscious of our obligations to the 150,000 mine workers whom we have the honor to represent, we have after most careful consideration, and with the hope of relieving the situation and averting the sufferings and hardships which would inevitably follow in the wake of a coal famine, decided to propose a resumption of coal mining upon the lines herein suggested.

Before doing so, Mr. President, we desire to say that we are not prompted to suggest this course of our claims. In deferring to your wishes, we are prompted by no fear on our part to continue the contest to a successful issue, thanks to the generous assistance rendered by our fellow workers in this and other lards; thanks to a justice-loving American public, whose sympathies are always on the side of right, we are able to continue the struggle indefinitely. But confident of our ability to demonstrate to any impartial tribunal the equity of our demands for higher wages, we propose that the issues culminating in this strike, shall be referred to you, and a tribunal of your own selection, and agree to accept your award upon all or any of the questions involved. If you will accept this responsibility and the representatives of the coal operators will signify their willingness to have your decision incorporated in an agreement, for not less than one year nor more than five years, as may be mutually determined between themselves and their anthracite coal mine workers and will pay the sale of wages which you and the tribunal appointed by you, shall award, we will immediately call a convention and recommend a resumption of work, upon the understanding that the wages which shall be paid, are to go into effect from the day upon which work is resumed.

Very respectfully yours,

JOHN MITCHELL,

President U. M. W. of A.

JOHN FAHY, THOMAS DUFFY, D.

D. NICHOLLS, District Presidents

M. W. of A.

JOHN MARKLE'S STATEMENT.

Mr. President, I represent the individual coal operators and in addition thereto we represent far better than Mr. Mitchell does a majority of the anthracite coal workers, including some 17,000 men who are now working endeavoring against great odds to relieve the public of the possibilities of a coal famine, in making this appeal to you. Mr. Mitchell's organization is a small minority of the total number of workers in the anthracite coal fields and he is holding a large majority by intimidation, coercion and attempts at bodily harm. If you desire anthracite coal to be placed in the market quickly, take the necessary steps at once and put the federal troops in the field and give to those desiring to work proper protection. By proper protection is meant that the men desiring to work shall not only be allowed to do so but shall be protected while doing so; at their homes, while going to and from their work and at the operations where they are employed; and in addition to this, while the men are absent from their homes at work, their families in their homes must also be protected. You do this (the citizens of the United States whom I represent seem to feel that they have a right to ask this of you) and I will assure you that anthracite coal will be rapidly placed in the market to relieve the seriousness of the situation.

Please remember, Mr. President, there is a large idle class of men now in the anthracite coal fields, taking every kind of unlawful act to prevent those who desire to work to relieve the situation in the anthracite coal market. Please remember that in the field now are only three thousand national guards; please remember that the total national guard of the state of Pennsylvania is only about ten thousand.

Mr. President, a condition exists, not a theory, in the anthracite coal fields, between a set of professional agitators and their co-workers on the one side (anarchistic in their acts), and the operators and a majority of the workmen on the other, who are endeavoring to relieve the seriousness of the anthracite coal situation. You, Mr. President, I believe, can relieve the situation at once. Will you do it?

MITCHELL'S REJOINDER.

The president asked Mr. Mitchell if he had anything further to say:

Mr. Mitchell said:

"The charge made by the gentlemen that twenty murders have been committed in the anthracite coal regions during the present strike is untrue. If they will name the men, and will show that they have committed the murders, I will resign my position. That is a fair proposition."

"Mr. President that is a fair example of how our organization and our people are maligned. The truth of the matter is, as far as I know, there have been seven deaths, unfortunately. No one regrets them more than I do. Three of them were committed by the coal and iron police and no one else has been charged with them. God knows the miners do not escape being charged with everything done there. They speak about burning buildings. There was a reward offered for burnings. I can bring affidavits of a hundred people if necessary that the lightning caused one burning that they charged to the United Mine Workers. Mr. President, I have admitted on more than one occasion that there has been some lawlessness, but I will say that a large portion of such lawlessness has been provoked by criminals who have been brought into the anthracite coal regions to recruit the coal and iron police. I want to say, Mr. President, that I feel very keenly the attacks made upon me and my people, but I came here with the intention of doing nothing and saying nothing that would affect reconciliation."

OPERATORS STUBBORN.

The President then asked the representatives of the anthracite companies whether they would accept Mr. Mitchell's proposition.

They answered, "No."

In response to a further question from the President they stated that they would have no dealings whatever with Mr. Mitchell looking toward a settlement of the question at issue, and that they had no other proposition to make, save what was contained in the statement of Mr. Baer, which, in effect was that if any man chose to resume work and had a difficulty with his employer both should leave the settlement of the question to the judge of the court of common pleas for the district in which the mine was located.

At about 5 o'clock the conference was brought to a close without any agreement.

OPINION AROUSED.

The suggestion was made in administration circles, though not as coming from the President, that the result had been to arouse and concentrate public sentiment. One of the President's advisers who was seen intimated that some consideration had been given before the conference to the future course of the administration in the event either party refused absolutely to do anything toward a settlement. He intimated that there was a possibility the interstate commerce commission might be able to take some steps with respect to carrying charges on the anthracite coal roads. Still public sentiment, he added, was the chief resource of the president as to both parties to the strike.

DEMAND SEIZURE OF MINES.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 4.—Resolutions demanding the seizure and operation of the anthracite coal mines by the government were adopted by a mass meeting attended by about 1,200 citizens last evening. Addresses were delivered by Thomas Fitzsimmons, Mayor Sam Jones of Toledo, and others.

UP TO GOV. STONE.

New York, Oct. 4.—The consensus of newspaper opinion on yesterday's strike conference as expressed in editorials this morning is that the operators should be taken at their word and that it is up to Governor Stone to maintain peace in Pennsylvania.

The Tribune today says: "There can be little doubt that Mr. Mitchell's offer will be generally regarded as fair and that the curt refusal of the operators even to take it into consideration will be as generally condemned."

The Herald: "The upshot of yesterday's conference is that the miners are bent upon sustaining their union and that the operators are determined to crush it and neither side has enough patriotism or humanity to relinquish its position in the interest of the greatest and most vitally interested—the public."

day's conference is that the miners are bent upon sustaining their union and that the operators are determined to crush it and neither side has enough patriotism or humanity to relinquish its position in the interest of the greatest and most vitally interested—the public."

SENATOR BLAIR'S OPINION.

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 4.—In an interview on the coal situation former U. S. Senator Henry W. Blair, expressed the opinion that the only resource left was for President Roosevelt to use the military power of the government to take possession of the anthracite coal fields. Mr. Blair says in his opinion there is ample constitutional authority for such proceedings.

HEALTH FOR WOMEN

A Course In Physical Culture In Five Lessons

By JAMES J. CORBETT, Famous Boxer and Athlete

SECOND LESSON

Mr. Corbett Today Gives Special Exercises That Will Help Dyspeptics—No Apparatus Required—Bending and Stretching the Body.

general breaking down that she has worn out her youthful vitality by not regarding the laws of health.

Early Morning Exercise.
But the lesson I am about to give applies to any person, man or woman, as a general health builder.
These exercises require no apparatus and should be taken the first thing on awakening in the morning.
When you have given the body a good stretch, throw the covering off

But if the abdomen is inclined toward corpulence this will be the best thing you could do to reduce it.

Keep the legs straight, so as to stretch the muscles of the back and stomach well.

I do these two exercises night and morning, and I have done them so long I don't have to think about them.

It's part of my getting up.

The best movement I know of is the one I shall recommend to take after you get out of bed.

First, stretch the body by lifting the hands over the head and drawing in a long breath.

Then bend forward, keeping the knees straight, and touch the floor with the tips of your fingers.

If you can't touch it, come as near to it as you can and then raise the body and bend backward as far as you can go, keeping the arms outstretched.

Good For What Ails You.
The first part of this movement exercises the same organs that the previous two exercises did.

The last part of it is good for the kidneys and the chest and lungs, squeezing the first and expanding the second.

This movement will make you breathe fast and fill your lungs with fresh air, and accumulated gases will be expelled.

You will positively belch after the first trial of this movement.

I vary this movement by placing my hands on the small of my back and flexing my knees.

Then I bend as far back as I can, which stretches the muscles over the stomach and gives that organ a mas-and that will help her to stand right. They will keep her from getting heavy and make her supple.

This will add to her gracefulness, and every woman wants to be willowy, I suppose.

They are fine for the general circulation of the blood, and, best of all, they will positively cure indigestion.

I don't promise they will do it in a month; they must be continued every morning, and at the end of three months they will have proved what I say.

Good For Sleeplessness.
After these exercises take a cold plunge.

The colder the water is the better. Take the bath quickly, rub off with a crash towel until the body is in a glow, and when you are dressed you will be ready to enjoy your breakfast.

If sleeplessness is an ailment from which any one suffers, let him take this entire programme before going to bed, the cold bath and all.

This draws the blood away from the head.

Don't take these exercises sooner than two hours after eating, however.

Wigwam of Minnewa Tribe, No. 52 Improved Order of Red Men. Newark, O., Oct. 3, 1902. G. S. D. 410.

At the regular meeting of Minnewa Tribe, No. 52, Improved Order of Red Men, held on October 3, 1902, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased the Great Spirit in his all-wise providence to remove from our hunting grounds our worthy brother, Clark Walrath, who died on September 17, 1902.

Resolved, that in the death of our brother the Tribe has lost a true and devoted member, the wife and family, a kind and loving husband and father, and we earnestly pray that the Great Spirit in his infinite mercy, will enable her and us, his brothers fraternally, to bear up under our bereavement in Christian spirit and resignation and humbly submit to the Divine will.

Resolved, By the members of Minnewa Tribe, No. 52, Improved Order of Red Men, that we extend to the bereaved family our tenderest sympathies in this their deepest of sorrows. May they look to Him who can grant them consolation of hope beyond the grave.

Resolved, That as a tribute of respect to the memory of our departed brother, we drape our Charter in mourning for a period of thirty days and that these resolutions be spread upon our records and a copy be furnished the bereaved family, under seal of the Tribe, and be published in the daily papers of our city.

His Explanation.
"Here, Maria, is your last month's bill from Smith's. What's all this ditto you've been getting every other day?"
"Ditto? I never heard of such a thing, haven't even bought the thing once, much less half a dozen times," said Maria indignantly.

"Well, well, all right, then. I'll just go down and ask the fellow what he means by charging you up with a lot of things you never got."

On his return Maria greeted her husband at the front door with an anxious face.

"Well," she began, "what did you find out about it?"

Her bigger half looked at her a moment, and a smile of supreme disgust settled on his face.

"I found out," said he slowly, "that I am a fool and you are a ditto." —New York Times.

Two Exercises That Are Very Beneficial.

"Try to throw your legs up over your head."

and begin by lifting your legs, first one and then the other, until you are limbered enough to lift both together.

Raise them straight without bending the knees.

First you will find this rather hard to do, and perhaps you will have to be content to just stick the legs up straight.

That alone will strengthen the back, and when you have done that ten times every morning for a week or so you will have strength enough to complete the movement.

This is done by carrying the legs over the head so far that the whole body is resting on the muscles of the shoulders.

How It Helps.
Keep your hands by your sides, resting palm down on the bed, and they will act as an anchor to keep you from turning a back somersault, which might be disastrous to the head and neck.

This exercise taken properly is great for the back, for you use every muscle in it to lift and hold the body, but it is particularly good for the bowels, liver and kidneys, because it kneads and squeezes them.

Having taken this movement ten times, which is enough for a beginner, try the second one, which is the reverse.

Raise the body to a sitting position without touching the hands to the bed.

You will have to make a spring to do this at first, but the right way to do it is to come up gradually by the pull of the muscles of the back and legs.

Bend the body forward as far as you can and catch hold of your toes.

Touch the forehead to the knees, if you are able.

You can't do it at first unless you are remarkably supple, and perhaps it will be a long time before you can.

sage, and then bending the body forward until it is horizontal with the floor.

The value of this movement would be greater for stout women than thin, as it tightens the muscles in front and the muscles across the stomach and bowels and tends to reduce flesh.

Now place the hands on the hips and move the body from side to side, bending as far over as possible.

A Liver Squeezer.
This is also a liver squeezer and will reduce the corpulence over the hips.

All these exercises should be done at least ten times, but as you do them

"Bend and touch the floor with the tips of your fingers."

you will find yourself making it easier and easier, and you will be able to do them twenty-five times without trouble.

These five movements are the best general exercises I know for a woman. They are just as good for a man, but I believe they will cure a weak back, which so many women complain of.
